

Top 10 wines from The Global Design and Packaging Masters

16 FEBRUARY 2023

By Patrick Schmitt

Following The Global Design and Packaging Masters last month, we bring you our top 10 from the competition, taking in a rosé with textured glass, a 'topless' Champagne, a pink wine pouch and a Portuguese white blend with a word search, among other novel packages.

The following designs were all taken from the competition, which you can read more about below. While to view all the medallists from The Global Design and Packaging Masters, please click here.

LE CHENIN DE MERCUÈS

With its "regal" purple capsule, and "classy", "clean" and "understated" appearance, the judges felt that this bottle was brilliantly and gracefully designed to suit an upmarket setting, such as a fine dining restaurant or luxury-drinks retailer. Using Chenin Blanc from the incredible gothic château and estate in Cahors, Château de Mercuès, it's an unusual wine that doesn't feature the region or grape variety on the front label, but conveys a fine-wine positioning through its elegant appearance.
